Spy Tools for Self Defense

Directory Now Offering Listings for Self Defense and Personal Security Equipment Websites

1/07/04 - Expanding on its goal to serve the global private investigations industry, Spy Tools Directory announced today the addition of its 'Self Defense' category, making website listings available to companies offering personal security products such as pepper spray, stun guns, and tasers.

"It's a natural fit," says Steve Salm, lead editor, "Private investigators can sometimes put themselves into situations where the need for self protection is there. In addition, those who would request the services of private investigators might also be concerned with their own safety as a result of initiating an investigation into someone else's personal life. In either scenario, having the right tools at one's disposal can provide that person with a sense of security."

The addition of the 'Self Defense' category marks the Directory's first category expansion of the new year.

"We're hoping to build upon our prior year's success in 2004," explained Salm, "this expansion is a good step forward in achieving our goals."
