Photoblocker Spray Now at Spy Tools Directory

Clear Coat Spray Renders License Plates Unreadable to Red Light and Speed Cameras

04/18/07 - Photoblocker (<http://www.spy-tools-directory.com/spy-gadgets/photoblocker.html>) spray, which renders license plates unreadable to red light, speed, and traffic cameras, is now available through spy technology and surveillance equipment resource the Spy Tools Directory, the site announced today.

"We receive a lot of traffic and inquiries from visitors searching for these types of products," said a spokesperson for the Directory. "By adding the Photoblocker products category to the directory our goal is to not only help our site visitors find those products, but also obtain reviews and other related information so they may become better educated about these types of products before making a purchase."

Photoblocker, a specially formulated clear coat spray applied automobile license plates, produces a high-powered gloss that reflects the flash back towards red light and traffic cameras. This overexposes the image of the license plate, rendering the picture unreadable to traffic cameras yet completely legible to the naked eye.
